Geon Andrews,

It's really sad that we only met this year, but I will always remember you + your doughnuts. Take care and Good Luck.

With Love,

The '70's are not the '50's or even the '60's.

Dear Audrey,
 We used to be very good friends but time has thrown a barrier between us. But, I still remember the good times I always will. I am a better person for having known you.
 Good luck,

District Administration

Superintendent Dr. Jerome Niosi

Mr. Raymond Rusch

On changing HHS:

Over the past ten years Hicksville High School has been developing a program of studies to meet the needs of different kinds of young people. Job opportunities and skills needed have changed and I believe the school which reflects the times has changed also. More vocational and business courses are available as well as programs directed to needs of certain groups of students. Another important change has been the wide variety of extra-curricular activities developed over the past decade. An educational system must reflect the times in which it exists . . .

Speaking Out I

On the rewards of administration:

The rewards of administration are often obscure and difficult to measure. They are not always immediately realized. Just as a farmer must toil long and hard before his crop is harvested, so must the efforts of the administrator be expended before the finished product is visible. The graduating senior, the young adult setting out in life the hope of the future, are all the fruits of his labors . . .

Mr. William Feigin

On the role of the administrator:

My position as administrator is most satisfying when I see students entering the school system in the Kindergarten and watch them develop into well-poised young ladies and men — at the Senior Ball and later at Commencement. Well-spoken, well-poised, well-educated young ladies and gentlemen means that we have succeeded in our primary task of fitting young Americans into the scheme of American society.

Dr. Jerome Niosi

Mr. James Jones

On communication:

There is a great need for improved communication between students and administrators. No one method will achieve perfect understanding but it is incumbent upon each to listen to what the other is attempting to say. Words and emotion often block attempts at understanding. An open, honest approach to listening would provide the best avenue to communication.

On greater student voice:

Policy making should be a cooperative venture. However, as long as the parents are paying the taxes, any request made by the students should have parental approval. In this day and age, I would recommend that students accept the proper responsibility for any of their policy suggestions that are implemented.

Mr. Chester Jaworski

On students:

Aside from dress and a greater awareness of the world in which they live, students have not really changed. Students ten years ago had the same basic teen-age problems, similar hopes and aspirations. The adjustment for all students to the adult world occurs when they realize that the rights they enjoy have corresponding responsibilities.

Mrs. Esther Scherer, school nurse since 1954, died on November 2, 1971, after a long and courageous fight against cancer. Mrs. Scherer was a skilled nurse and a highly intelligent, immensely practical person. For many years she accompanied the senior class on its annual trip to Washington. On behalf of the administration, faculty, and student body, Comet '72 wishes to acknowledge her contribution to our school, and honor her memory.

Miss Runhild Wessell

On today's student: Since I came to H.H.S. right after the battle of Gettysburg (so I tell my classes), the interest in school has become markedly greater. I find that the pupil of today is more mature, sensitive, understanding, willing to learn, willing to be of service to others, aware of what's happening all over the world, and undoubtedly better educated than the previous generation.

Speaking Out II

On teaching motivation:

Mr. Anthony Cali

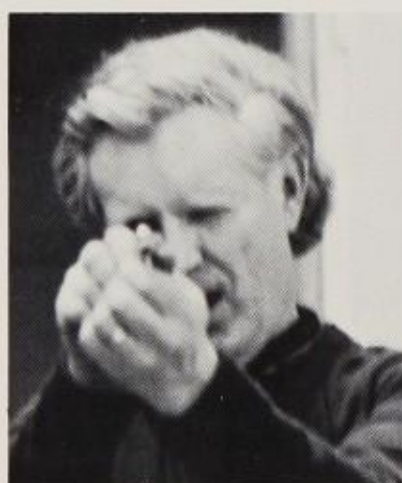

The satisfaction from seeing a student who has a problem solve it himself or with your guidance and the glow in his eyes at recognition are rewards which are impossible to achieve in other areas.

I certainly would not continue to teach, given present circumstances, if I could not be paid for doing so. Pay is both a practical necessity and a tribute of sorts. In this respect, teaching is a "job." At the same time though, the sense of purpose that is inherent in teaching is an uplifting quality that gives tremendous satisfaction.

Mr. Lawrence LaMarca

On changing interest: I feel that today's students are more interested in learning, thus becoming more disinterested in school. They realize that the substance of materials taught have no concrete examples for them to apply their experiences to, in the present day society.

Mr. Donald Holmes

Mrs. Helen Cohen

On the changing times: High schools have changed considerably in the past few years. There is greater relevance in subjects offered, greater response to hitherto unorthodox areas of student interest. Students have become more influential in effecting changes and have successfully challenged authority in many ways.

On Regents:

I strongly oppose the abolishment of the Regents — it is the only standard, a minimal standard left in examinations.

Yes, I do think Regents exams should be abolished, because they are not really standardized tests, changing as they do in difficulty from one year to another. They confine the teacher to teaching for the Regents and thus hamper him.

Miss Giedre Kumpikas

Mr. Samuel Goldberg

Miss Dorothy Huskiewicz

On changing the high school: I would like to see high school run on a voluntary attendance basis. If the school is meeting the needs of the students, the students will attend. If the school is not meeting the needs of the students, the students should have other options open to them . . .

Speaking Out III

On HHS and the city:

I am very happy to be a student at Hicksville High School. Before I moved to Hicksville, September 1970, I lived in the Bronx and I went to James Monroe High School. Although the teachers were good, the students were horrible. There was a tense feeling between racial groups during the school day. Hicksville is all different. The people are nice and I am no longer afraid to come to school. Some kids from Hicksville should spend a day in the city schools. I am sure that they would appreciate HHS much more than they do now.

Eleanor Ricci

On apathy:

Too many students in HHS are apathetic about one another. A walk through Hicksville High School is comparable to a walk through New York City. Faces are blank, pushing is common, and a person in need is ignored. The school is large; the gulf between the students is even larger.

Darlene Tschan

On students and teachers:

I think that the student-faculty relationship should be changed. I feel that a student deserves an equal amount of respect as he gives to a member of the faculty. There will be cases where no respect is given to the student and therefore the faculty's treatment should be based upon this. The atmosphere should resemble that of college life more so than that of junior high school.

Olive Yovino

Kenneth Wexler

On the ideal teacher:

The ideal teacher — how hard to define. I suppose an individual that you can love and understand, and who can love and understand you. An individual with whom you can experience life and discuss the experiences of life; as human beings, one who can impart the wisdom of the years. You can hopefully come away with a finer and deeper understanding of the WHY of life . . .

On school spirit:

In such a large school as ours, it is only a rare moment when one can feel a school identity — let alone show real school spirit. A basketball game against Syosset, faculty play, senior trip, or freezing during a false fire alarm brings out a "oneness" in ourselves not often experienced. As most Americans, we accentuate our differences while ignoring basic similarities. Let's face it — we'll miss HHS. Whenever I have to go to the bathroom, why else do I start to write out a pass?

B. Nitsad

On HHS and the world:

An AFS student starts to realize that all people are basically the same and that his race is neither superior nor inferior to the others. I found out that students in Hicksville High School are generally the same as the teenagers of other countries — they are all friendly and willing to help me whenever I need it.

Activities

Each year, through the efforts of its students, Hicksville High School is turned into something more than a "learning factory"
consisting only of the drab routine of classroom work.

Through concerts,
dances,
theatrical performances,
and other entertainments
the school is made a center
for social involvement and participation.

This year was no different.

Why do we participate in school activities?

Obviously for entertainment and enjoyment.

But, if we look closely,
there's also something more to be found.

Maybe it's the experience of working with others and getting to know people...

... and maybe through this experience we can find the key to ourselves. •

HHS Pep Rally

On October 1, 1971, the eve of Hicksville's first home football game, a pep rally was held after school in the boy's gym. The turnout was fair, but those who did come showed great school spirit. Our cheerleaders and marching band were there to help the crowd show that they were behind the Comets all the way. The speakers at the rally included Mr. Rusch, Coach Grantham, team captain Walt Staehle and Student Government chairman Richard Wayne. The festivities of October 1 didn't help the contest of October 2, however, as Hicksville lost its first home game of the season to Plainedge.

Class Elections

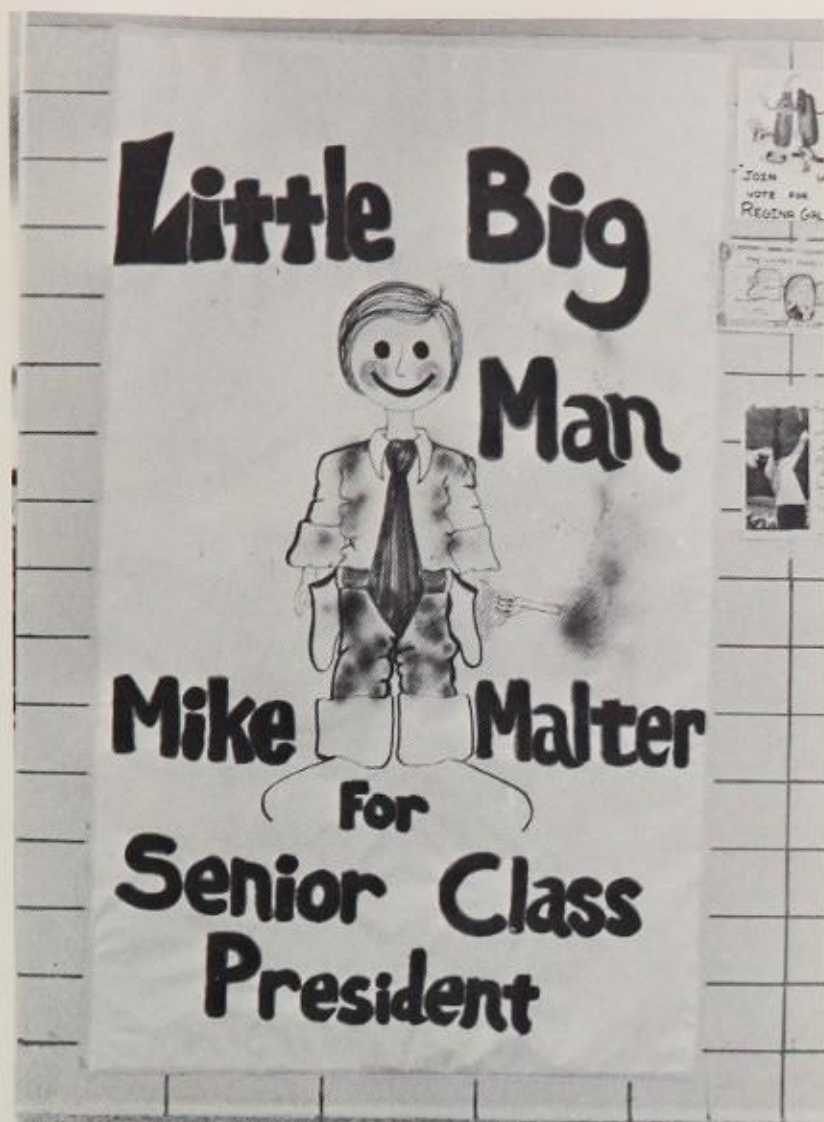

The week preceding October 18, 1971 saw the corridors of Hicksville High transformed into a gallery of decorative campaign posters of all shapes and sizes for the forthcoming class elections. When the big day arrived ballots were cast during homeroom, and when the results were tallied each class had a corps of ready and willing officers to plan events for their respective classes for the school year. The sophomores began planning for their November Sophomore Hop, the juniors started a class cookie sale and planned a class-sponsored dance in January, and our senior officers, under the leadership of our fearless leader Mike Malter, started getting things under way for the senior trip and senior privilege card. These plans were only a starting point, and the class officers soon found out they had a busy year ahead of them.

Homecoming Day

The First Annual Hicksville Homecoming Day Parade, largely organized through the efforts of our new superintendent Dr. Jerome J. Niosi, added a new flavor to Homecoming Day '71. For the first time the event became a community-wide affair, with school spirit, town enthusiasm, and game attendance all testifying to the parade's success. Of course, most of the old traditions were kept, the Alumni being the honored guests at the game, and Barbara Franco being chosen Queen over runners up Donna Mezzacappa and Debbie Schera. But the unprecedented fanfare and excitement of the parade made the day, although it didn't seem to have too much effect on our football Comets (24-10 Syosset). All in all, it was a great day for Hicksville High.

Sophomore Hop

Although the attendance was rather small, the Sophomore Hop, held on November 20, was considered a success. Music was provided by the band Allison, in which sophomore Jim Saul played lead. The dance had certain innovations, such as cafe-type service by a group of girls who volunteered to be waitresses. Door prizes were awarded, and a dance contest was held which was won by Larry Cohen and Carol Buckman. A good deal of work went into decorating the gym for the event and, judging by the Hop's success, it was well worth the effort.

Nostalgia was the theme of this year's variety show as Hicksville High's National Thespian Troupe 2125 presented an extravaganza consisting of a stage band performance, a tap dance sequence, a Dance to Love Story, a new skit entitled "Clancy of the Mounted Police", and a string of past scenes from great performances presented on the Hicksville stage over the years. These performances included West Side Story, Bye Bye Birdie, Finnian's Rainbow, Oklahoma, Camelot, South Pacific, How to Succeed in Business, and Brigadoon. As usual the Thespians put on a great performance, and to those who attended certainly a gratifying and memorable one.

Art Careers Night

The fourth annual Art Careers Night, sponsored by the Long Island Art Teachers Association, was held on the night of November 16, 1971 for the purpose of aiding interested art students in deciding what career they would like to pursue after high school. The program was an informal one, and the students who attended visited the various workshops and college representatives of their choice. About 250 people attended, a good part of them from areas surrounding Hicksville, and most of them agreed that the night was a success. The opportunity given art students to talk to professionals in the field made the program a worth while one.

Various workshops such as this one were held.

Basketball Tournament

On the nights of December 21 and 22 a holiday basketball tournament was held in the Hicksville gym. Three other schools were invited to compete in the tournament, including Clarke, Great Neck South, and Holy Trinity. In the first round Hicksville demolished Clarke, while Holy Trinity triumphed over South. This set the stage for the dramatic final contest pitting Hicksville against its neighborhood rival. There was a great turnout from both schools cheering their teams on, and the players responded by playing one of the finest games ever played on the Hicksville court. It was a hard-fought battle right down to the wire, and a tie at the end of regulation play sent the game into an overtime period. Trinity's clutch shooting in the overtime put the game away, however, and the tournament's host had to settle for second place.

One of the quieter moments of the dance.

Innash

The Student Government sponsored Innash dance was held in the old girls gym on the night of December 18, 1971. Innash, a tradition in Hicksville High School, is the annual nickel-an-inch, dress-alike, Sadie Hawkins dance in which the girl asks the boy, the couple dresses alike, and the payment at the door is based on the difference in height between the girl and the boy. Surprises are to be expected at a dance like this, and at this particular one Mike Spindel and Pat Moran won the prize for the best costumes and drew quite a few laughs with their outfits. Needless to say everybody who went had a great time.

Height difference winners Big Al Goodman and Lee Cucarro.

Christmas Assembly

On the last day of school before Christmas recess the seniors were called down to the boys gym for a special assembly. After a brief statement by Mr. Rusch and a few announcements by senior class president Mike Malter, Santa Claus (Rich Levandov) and his "reindeer" arrived from the North Pole with a few gifts for some of our teachers and administrators. Mr. Rusch got that wildly-colored tie he always wanted, Mr. Jones got a hair-piece which he graciously donated to Mr. Olvany's chest, and Mr. Munch got a new toy to play with. After all the gifts were presented, the dance band played a few numbers, and the seniors went home to enjoy Christmas.

It's a colorful tie for Mr. Rusch.

Mr. Munch shows off his brand new fire alarm.

Christmas? Some people don't look too happy about it.

Mr. Olvany isn't forgotten either.

Guys and Dolls

Hicksville High's first faculty musical ever, "Guys and Dolls", was presented on the nights of March 10 and 11. The show was directed by Mr. Gus Patsis of our guidance department, with musical direction by Mr. Cary Chalmers, a former student of Hicksville High. Everyone who saw the show agreed that it was a smashing success, and it was really funny to see how the people we knew so well in the classroom and around the school acted on stage when given the chance to ham it up. Even Mr. Feigin got into the act, and it was hilarious to see the administrator we all know and love start shooting craps in the middle of the stage. The costumes were outrageous, and just the sight of some of the faculty in them was enough to make you crack up. The proceeds from the show went into a scholarship fund, and the time and effort put into the production by our faculty for such a worthy cause is deserving of praise and gratitude on the part of all of us. We hope the success of "Guys and Dolls" will lead to other productions by our faculty in future years.

A hats-off salute and vocal rendition.

The righteous shall prevail!

Wait a minute, fellas, I saw her first!

Mr. Feigin shooting the crap again.

A one, and a two, and ...

... away we go!

Some people had better things to do than dancing.

The Ides of January

A dance sponsored by the Junior Class, The Ides of January, was held on the night of January 15, 1972. It was a strictly informal affair, and casual attire was worn by all who attended. Music was provided by a group called Black Night. Approximately 175 people showed up at the dance, everyone had a good time, and the dance was judged a success. The Ides of January was the Junior Class's prelude to Knights of White Satin, the Junior Prom, which was held in April.

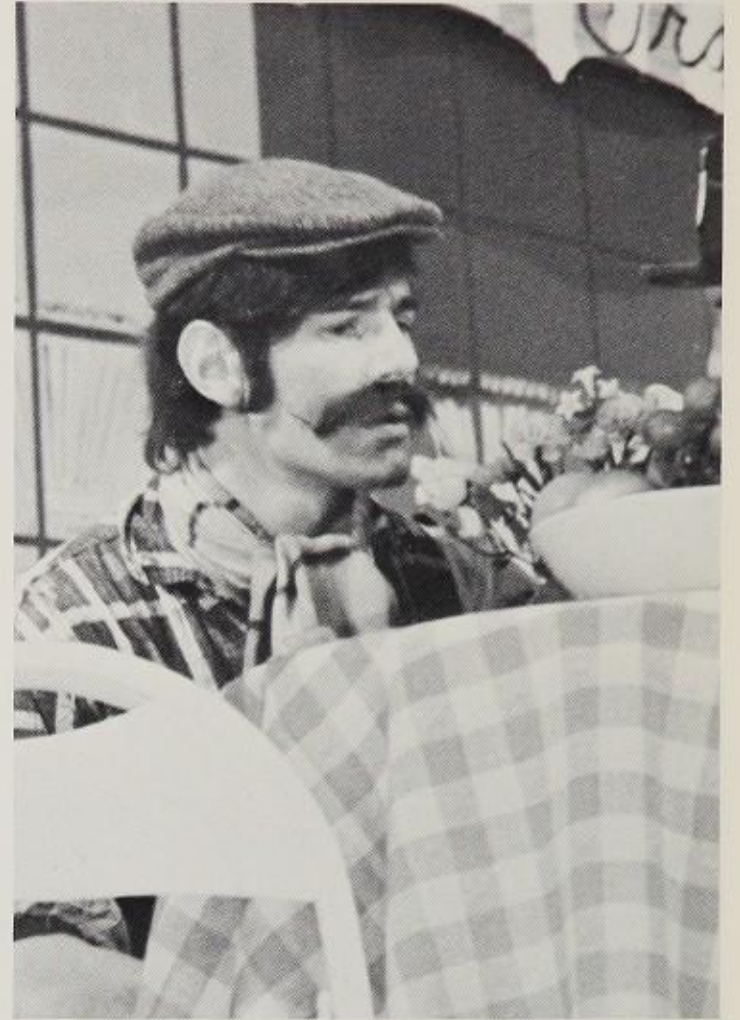

For some, the dance had its tender moments.

the MADMAN

CHAZZOT

Hicksville High's Thespian Troupe # 2125 presented this year's Senior Play, Jean Giraudoux's "The Madwoman of Chaillot", a play in two acts, on the nights of February 24, 25, and 26. The production was directed by Mr. Joseph Crucilla and student director Glen Corlin. Jeanne Rooman as the Madwoman and Mike Spindel as the Ragpicker put on great performances, but many of those who saw the play said that it was difficult to follow, and before one of the performances Mr. Crucilla came out and gave a partial explanation of the play. The play was not as well attended as other Thespian performances, and did not seem to have the appeal of other shows, perhaps because the French accents used gave it an air of artificiality. The Thespians, as usual, did put in a great deal of time and effort in the production, and for this they are to be praised once again.

Student Life — The Learning Process at H.H.S.

English

As far as subject matter goes, there is no area of study as varied as high school English. In works ranging from light verse to deep philosophical dissertations, every student usually finds something to his or her liking. Its emphasis on the art of communication through the written and spoken word make English the most important subject for a high school student. Our senior English electives including English drama, comedy in literature, business communications, an introduction to philosophy, and Advanced Placement English give the easily-bored student a choice of what he would like to be bored in, but offer to those interested a somewhat diversified area from which to choose.

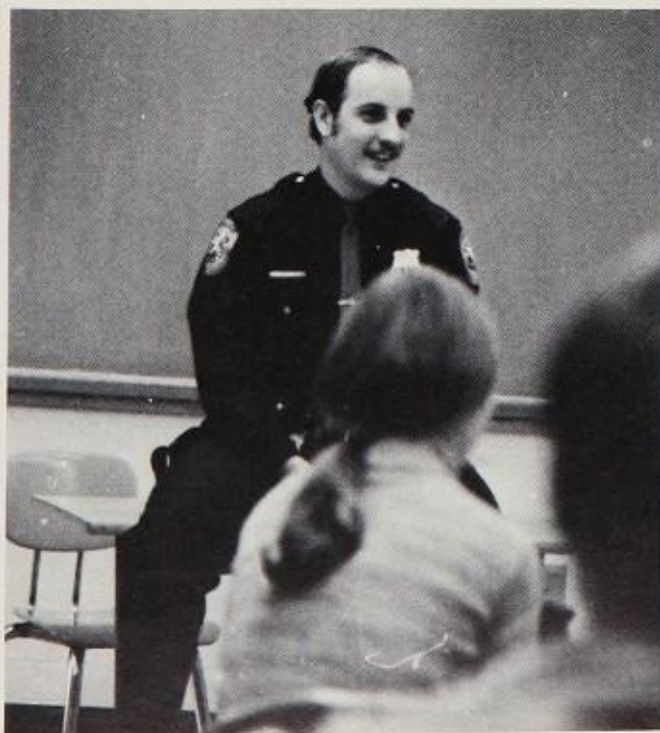

Mr. Higginson piles his books up.

Ken Wexler looks like he has better things to do.

Let it be known that all serfs are free.

A rap session with the law.

Social Studies

Through its senior electives the Hicksville High Social Studies Department has made an effort to make the study of the subject a more meaningful and relevant endeavor. After taking World History and American Studies in the sophomore and junior years the student can choose from a list of electives including Government, Economics, Sociology, Contemporary World Problems, Advanced Placement American History, and a new American Foreign Policy course to be offered next year. Also offered is Russian History, with the added bonus of an annual Serf Liberation Day celebrated by Mr. Goldberg's classes. In the past two years Hicksville High Social Studies classes have also been visited by a Nassau County policeman in an attempt to establish a better rapport between youth and police.

Brazilian girl does a dance for her audience.

Foreign Language

Many students in Hicksville High are involved in the study of one or more foreign languages, and the third floor area where the foreign language rooms are located has sort of an international flavor about it. A variety of languages is offered to the student, including French, Italian, German, Spanish, and Latin. Foreign language clubs are also popular, and these clubs sponsored various activities throughout the year including field trips. One day we even had a Brazilian student come in and do a dance. Then we have the language lab, in which students can make an attempt at learning the conversational aspects of a language. And if one has the desire and the means, one can even go to the country he has been studying about, as many H.H.S. students have done.

Hello, Mars? I read you loud and clear.

Number, please.

Lunch

Now we come to the best part of the school day, the lunch period. Since all that can be said about school lunches has already been said, no comment will be made on the subject. However, for those of us forced to eat in the cafeterias (lucky are those who leave!), the lunch period has a great impact not only on our stomachs but on our psychological state for the remainder of the school day. The survival of an ordeal such as the lunch period strengthens us against any obstacles which may confront us. Our condition was somewhat bettered this year by the Student Government's success at having a soda machine installed in Cafeteria B, but coming out of the cafeterias alive and well is still an uphill fight.

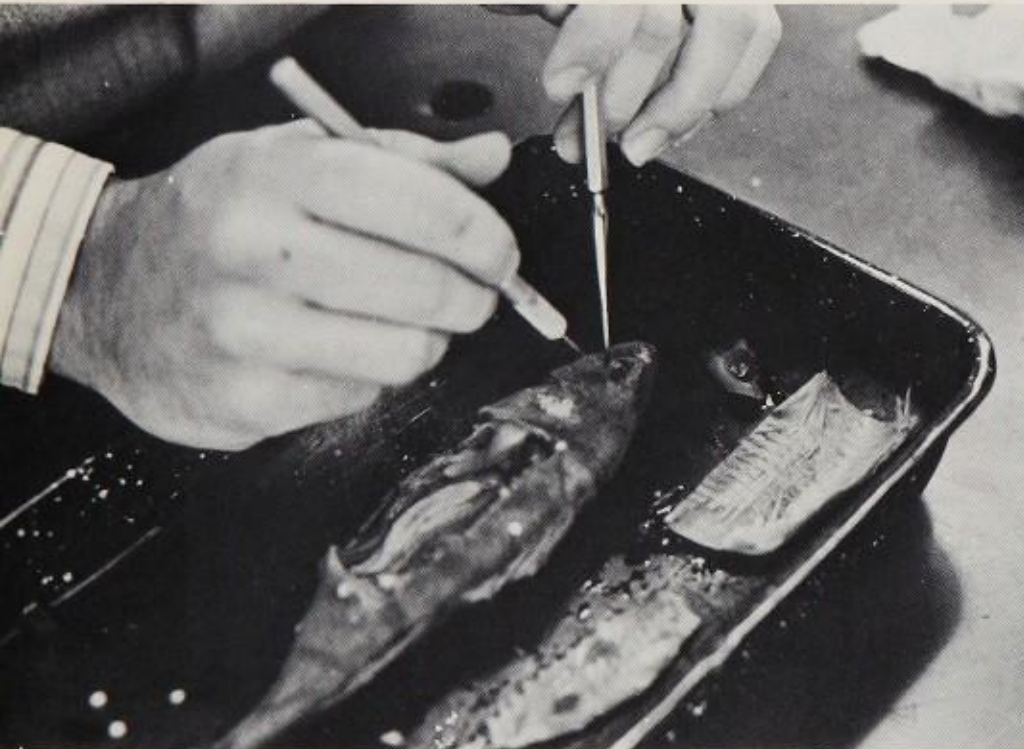

Science

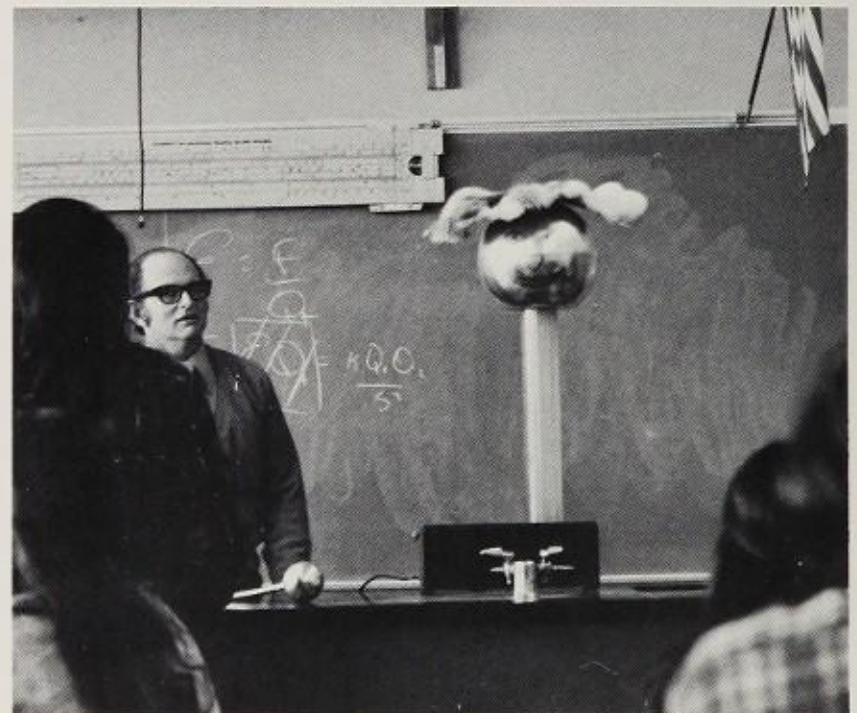

Hicksville High science teachers must have the highest ulcer rate in the school, because when they send their students back to do lab work, they never know what's going to come out. Lab is always the fun part of a science class, and most of the time it gives students a chance to rise to the level of their incompetence. Our biology, chemistry, and physics teachers are also a fascinating bunch, and a few of them put together would make a great comedy act. Anyway, a little entertainment know and then is good for the learning process. Science classes are one of the wonders of Hicksville High, and what is taught in them is often a wonder to Hicksville High students. In any case, after all the comedies and frills, let it be known that science is taught in Hicksville High.

Denise Heller is on top of the situation, as Steve Goldberg smirks.

No, it's not today's lunch.

A visitor in Mr. Rosen's class.

Observation is important in science.

Are you sure we're doing this right?

Rich Silverman ponders over some calculus.

Mathematics

For some students, math is a subject of insurmountable complexity, and it seems to tax their mind to such a degree that they constantly approach the limit of insanity. Others find it loads of fun and even join a club to get more of it, while still others fall in between — neither loving nor despairing, but learning. From counting the correct change in the lunch rooms and the number of minutes left in each period, to Regents, SAT's, and the Advanced Placement Test, math never ceased playing an important role in the life of the high school.

What'll we do with this one, Mr. Rusch?

After this shot we lynch the guy with the camera.

Snowballing

In the winter months when school starts getting really dull and some soft, white, flaky stuff starts piling up on school grounds, everyone gets some kind of urge to go outside and engage in the popular sport of snowballing. Although Mr. Rusch and administration had adamantly made this a no-no for the obvious danger of throwing semi-hard ice at moving vehicles in front of the school, some students still couldn't resist the urge and had their fun in the back of the school. Well, some of them got kind of carried away and made a monstrous boulder which the Advanced Placement Chemistry class determined to be about six feet in diameter. It stood there for several days as a tribute to the age-old sport of snowballing. But take heart, Mr. Rusch, winter lasts only three months, anyway.

Talk about snow jobs.

Music and Musicians

Music has always been a fine tradition in Hicksville High, and for many students it is a big part of school life. Although most of the Music Department's recognition comes through concerts and recitals presented periodically by the various groups, music also plays a part in sports and dramatic productions, as shown by the halftime shows put on by the marching band during the football season and the stage band's participation in Thespian productions. The Madrigals held a choral concert in the public library during the Christmas season. The Modern Music Masters, composed of Hicksville's finest musicians, held several recitals. Among the honors attained by H.H.S. music students were the selection of 21 students to All County Instrumental Groups performing at C.W. Post College, the acceptance of 13 students for the 1972 All County High School Chorus, and the selection of nine Hicksville musicians to participate in the Long Island String Festival. The entire Music Department is to be congratulated for these achievements.

Industrial Arts

Hicksville High's Industrial Arts Department provides a certain amount of vocational training for interested students. The Department consists of various shops, including wood shop, metal shop, electricity shop, and printing shop, as well as an auto shop. The printing shop serves the school by printing up certain materials to be distributed to students. This year Mr. DiMichele designed a unique electricity-electronics laboratory for use by his students. The set-up allows students to analyze their own work with electricity. In general, students taking Industrial Arts strive for skill in working with tools.

Kevin Huggard looks after some machinery.

Mark Landress pauses for a pose.

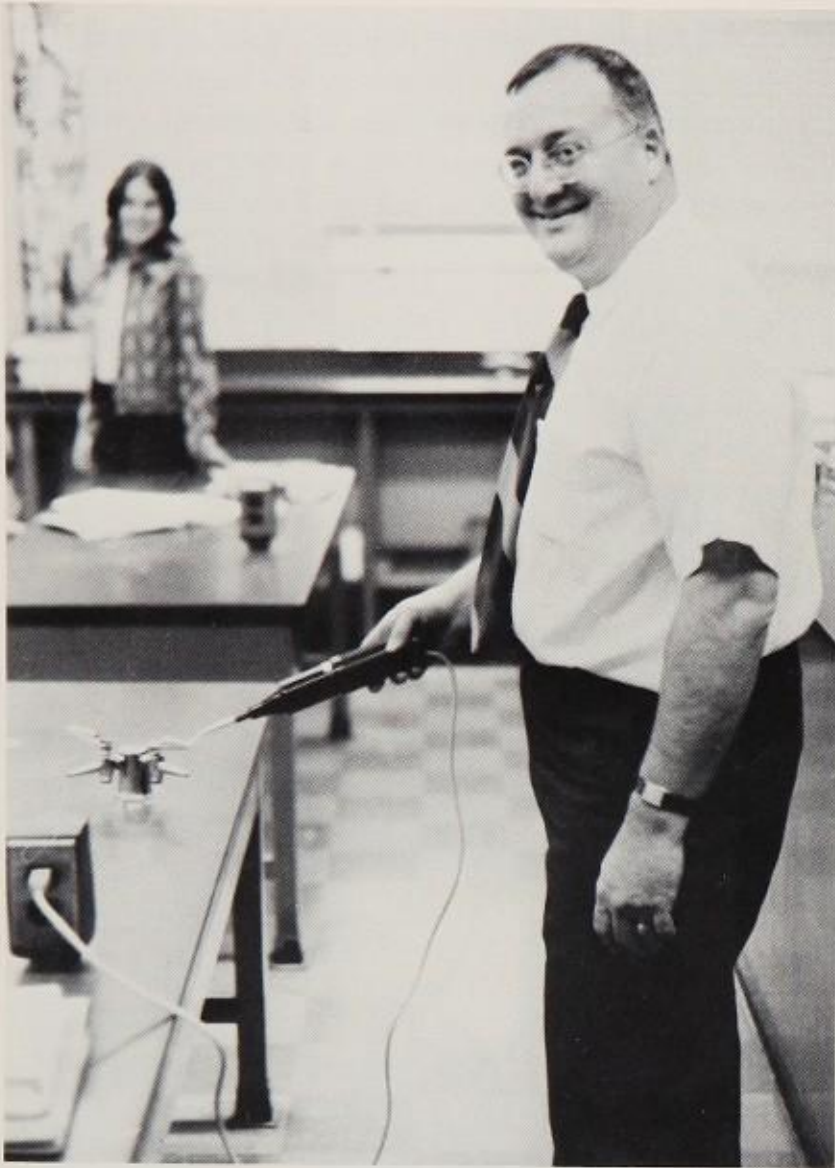

Business

The Business Department in Hicksville High consists of many areas of learning, including accounting, business law, office practice, business math, retailing, bookkeeping, shorthand and typing. The emphasis is on developing within the student those skills which are needed in today's complex business world. Courses such as typing are taken by students intending to make a career out of business and also by those with other interests who desire to obtain certain skills which they, too, may find useful. The subjects offered by the Business Department are broad in scope and attract many students.

One of the most difficult tasks for a yearbook staff in the production of the school annual is to describe itself aptly in the clubs section. This year's staff (as you already must have noticed) has put together a book like no other. For the first time in several years a production deadline was nearly met. "Speaking Out I, II, III" and the plastic record provided a clearcut step from the past, but many traditions were continued. The staff here wishes to acknowledge the contribution of all the people who during the course of the year helped make Comet '72 a reality.

Student Government

Commanding a unique position among student organizations at Hicksville High School is the Student Government. The Student Government, in addition to representing the student body, provided funds for clubs through the sale of G.O. Cards and the sponsorship of the Innash dance. This year witnessed an increasing emphasis upon gaining student privileges and effecting new school policies through both the "Intents and Objectives" and the work of the many committees. Though the title "Student Government" remained a misnomer during the '71 — '72 school year, the Executive Board did its share in making it less so.

Student Court

The Student Court was designed to allow students brought to the administration for disciplinary action to be judged instead by a group of their peers. Unfortunately, few students have availed themselves of this privilege, this year being no exception. The Court did have the opportunity, however, of making some rulings — including questions such as the censorship of posters in the Comet Room, and the cutting of a substitute — administered class.

"Well ... I couldn't find a robe and a wig."

The Comet Newspaper staff headed by Kenneth Wexler and his Editorial Board, struck out in new directions, initiating many new features. A teacher commendation poll was held; specially cited were history teacher Paul Vetrano and chemistry master Charles Ferri. All students in the school were offered the chance to write a personal monthly column. Such innovations attempted to produce a newspaper that was vibrant, informative, and responsive to the students' needs and desires.

Interact

Interact is a school and community service club established in the high schools by the local Rotary Clubs. Service was the word for this year's Hicksville club, with a book drive for the needy, a bread sale for the March of Dimes, and the selling of refreshments for the senior class at home football and basketball games. The club was also active at the district level, establishing a new Interact club at Holy Trinity High School.

Interscholastic competition with successful results was not at all limited to athletics. Each week the "math-letes" of the HHS Math Team faced challenging problems in intra-school practice meets. The team's five best problem solvers represented the school in monthly meets against other schools in the Nassau County Math League. Out of over fifty other schools, the math team, led by team leader Ira Smilovitz, Steve Goldberg, and Michael Matzka, stood in first place as of mid-February.

Time: 4 minutes

If the square of a positive number is added to the number, the sum is 145,542. What is the number?

Chess Club

White moves pawn to king's four; Black counters with pawn to queen's four. Such and other brilliant moves were made by members of the Chess Club at their weekly meetings and interscholastic tournaments. When the HHS grandmasters matched their wits in these recreations of medieval warfare, the results were games lasting from two to three hours. Whoever said that chess is a form of recreation?

It is the National Thespian Society which works to actively unite those students involved in high school dramatics. The troupe is a theatrical honor society and to gain entrance into it a student must work on several shows, and earn 100 points.

The members of the National Thespian Troupe take an oath to uphold the high quality of theatrical work and to promote fellowship in the theatre. Before each performance, all are united in one quote; "There are no small parts, only small actors. Play well your part; there all honor lies. Break a leg."

Jean Moran

Dear Audrey,
I was great getting to know you this year, and working with you on "Carousel"
& in choral, Good luck in all your devils.

Soprano Alison Dick silently meditates that last note.

Dear Audrey,
You're a great person.
I'll never forget you, this show was great, because I'll look forward to seeing you next year and over the summer.
Love, Lynn

Last but not least, a tribute to the birds on our photography staff.

Sports

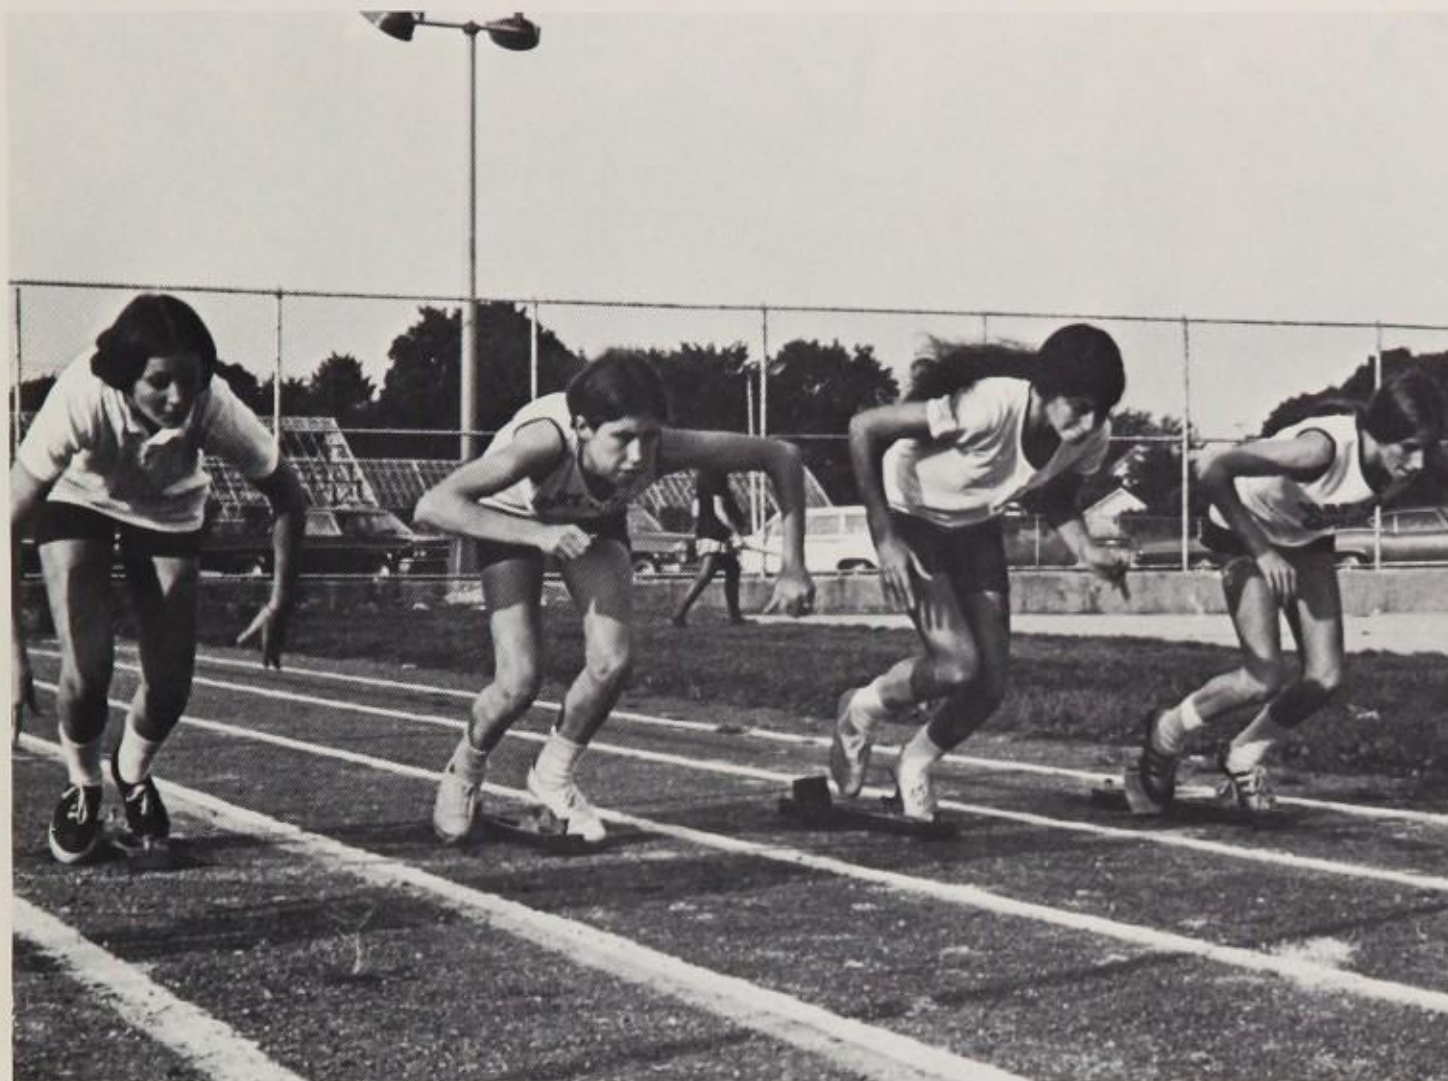

Why do we compete in sports?
To kick a round orb into an awaiting net,
To jump over a pole suspended four feet in the air,

At times, only to suffer
the slings of outrageous fortune.

Sports teach us more than just winning or losing.
The intense competition and physical exertion
bring out the best in us

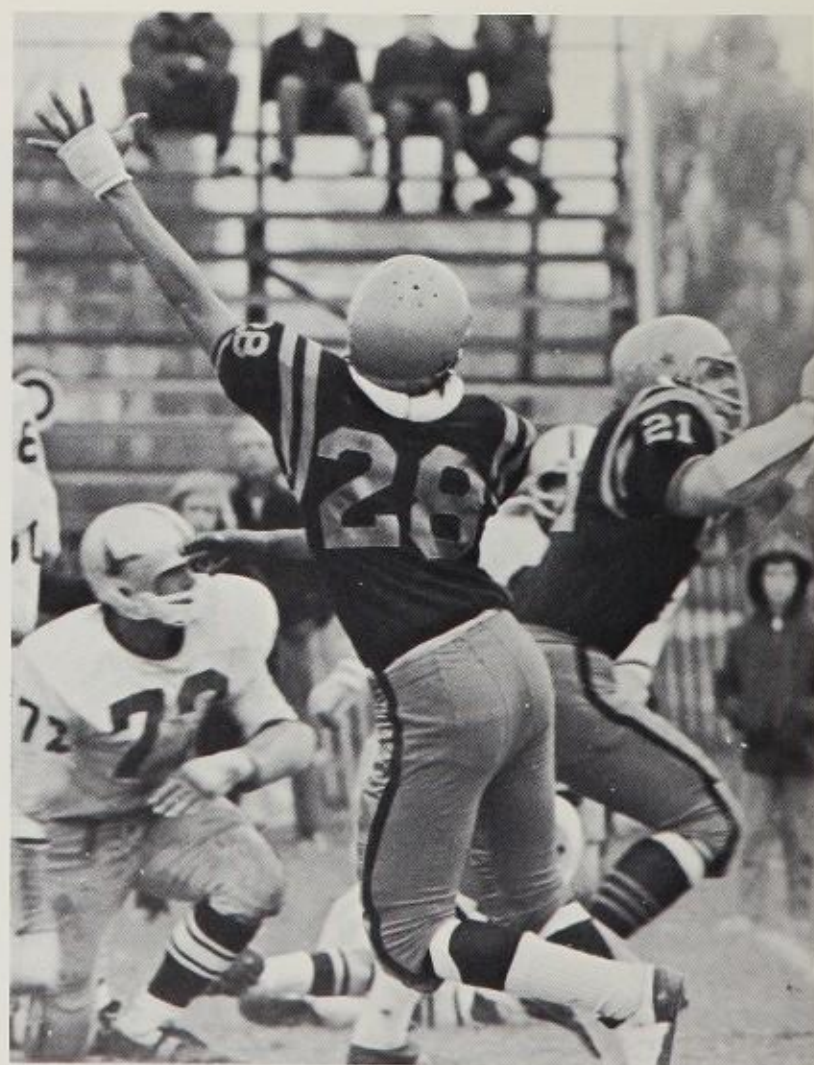

We gain respect for ourselves and others, while learning the importance of group effort.

Varsity Football

The varsity football team got off to a slow start, losing in tough competition to Farmingdale and Syosset. Injuries were a major problem during the '71 season. Still, the Comets came back and finished off the season by defeating Plainview Kennedy (38-6) and Bethpage (22-0). With many fine juniors and upcoming sophomores, Coach Grantham can look forward to a promising season to come.

Cross-Country

Two outstanding runners - Vini Luisi and Larry Casassa - brightened what was otherwise a gloomy season. Both boys were voted to the All-League I All Star team. Vini and Larry each broke the old school record for the Bethpage G.O. course (13:12) with times of 12:57 and 13:11, respectively. This was a rebuilding year, and Coach Bob Hilsky is looking forward to a winning season next year.

Pulling thru with an undefeated season the girls' badminton team showed perserverance and skill in all of their matches. Being an individual rather than a team sport, it should be mentioned that all the girls constantly performed their best during each of their matches. Hopefully we will see this relatively new team on our courts again next year.

The formation of the fall track team added a new dimension to girls' fall sports. Despite the girls' inexperience, their determined efforts and natural ability were the keys to good competitive meets. High jumping, relay, and running were generally the strong points of the team.

Field Hockey

Once again the girls' Field Hockey teams made it possible for us to be proud of them. Although the teams sometimes faced defeat, team spirit allowed the girls to come right back with victory. Offensively, Peg Hoosack, Carol Vitelli, Gloria Sullivan, and Terry Humphreys ignited the team with timely goals.

Volleyball

Volleyball is an up and coming sport as could be seen by the number of girls who tried out for interscholastic participation. Although this year the team was basically inexperienced, Peg Hoosack, and Laurie Morrison returned to varsity for their third time to occasionally spike the team to victory.

Basketball

Variation was the key strategy in girls' basketball this year. The numerous amount of plays and defensive techniques led the girls to many of their victories. Varsity was paced by the valuable scoring and clutch rebounding of seniors Peg Hoosack and Marianne Farrell. The junior varsity finished its season with a 6-3 record. Six foot sophomore Carolyn Massey was high scorer for the team.

Dear ... I'm so glad we able to be with each other. we this year. All those yrs. we didn't see each other, I never thought of you - in fact, every time I would involuntarily smile. I always had a very special feeling towards you - that's why I'm so glad to find were going to be in chocks

Modern Dance First Row: Lynda Reed, Elizabeth Hopkins, Pat Bento, Vicki Comiskey, Second Row: Patty Williams, Linda Looney, coach Mrs. Hanks, Karen Krumm, Brenda Arnold.

Bowling

Bowling Team First Row: Theresa Rizos, Marian Perina, Mary Kretz, Second Row: Joan Kelly, Laura Marlow, Carole Pfeiffer, coach Miss Repoli, Sandy Moyer. Not Pictured: Paula Laudician, Joan Sherry, Nancy Boyd, Geri Sicari.

Coach Repoli's bowling team showed a great deal of potential and spirit. The idea of "It's not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game" definitely prevailed. Performance by Marian Perina was outstanding. Her consistent bowling helped the team for high individual series.

Coquettes

HHS's precision dance squad has supplied the fans with commendable half time performances, for the past six years. Under the new leadership of advisor Mrs. Devino and capt. Melissa Lawhon and Yana Vacek, the coquettes graced both the football and basketball home games with new and unique dances.

Watch out, band, we're coming through!

Lined up for the kick off.

With the coquettes it's almost all work and no play.

Twirlers

Twirlers Myra Albin, Lorraine Lorch, Nancy Robinson, Denis Smith, Pat Bento, Lucy Loukas, Sue Greco,

It will be hard to find a replacement for Senior Denise Smith.

The twirlers were another attraction to our half time shows, They combined their skill and dancing ability to make the home coming parade as well as the football and basketball half time more enjoyable.

Onward Hicksville soldiers!

Out of the earth to rest or range
Perpetual in perpetual change,
The unknown passing through the strange.

Water and saltness held together
To tread the dust and stand the weather,
And plough the field and stretch the tether,

To pass the wine-cup and be witty,
Water the sands and build the city,
Slaughter like devils and have pity,

Be red with rage and pale with lust,
Make beauty come, make peace, make trust,
Water and saltness mixed with dust . . .
